EXPLORER AWARDS 2020

SIR CHARLES BLOIS EXPLORER AWARD FOR SCIENCE & ADVENTURE

An award of £5,000 and the exclusive title

SIR CHARLES BLOIS EXPLORER 2020

Supported by Sir Charles Blois Bt

Sir Charles Blois is a long-time friend to and supporter of the SES. His passion for travel and adventure is unquenchable and on a par with that of SES Founder John Blashford-Snell who he hails as his inspiration.

The Sir Charles Blois Explorer Award has been created to support a scientific adventurer and trailblazer. The applicant should be undertaking an adventurous expedition with strong physical requirements, in a challenging environment which aims to produce new scientific, physical or anthropological insight into little known peoples.

The Sir Charles Blois Explorer Award is to support a Pioneer with Purpose who:

- is the instigator and leader of an expedition combining adventure and scientific purpose
- is leading an expedition in a physically challenging environment
- aims to produce new scientific / physical information, or anthropological insight into little known people
- may be undertaking a journey which re-traces the tracks of a famous explorer or scientific pioneer – aiming to go one step further in their exploration of scientific research
- is leading a potentially ground-breaking expedition in terms of location, logistics or similar
- can demonstrate the expedition includes local engagement and collaboration and creates a lasting legacy
- can evidence a clear and strong communication plan (both within scientific and wider audiences) that will include a digital presence on multiple platforms

ELODIE SANDFORD EXPLORER AWARD FOR AMATEUR PHOTOGRAPHY

An award of at least £4,000* and the exclusive title

ELODIE SANDFORD EXPLORER 2020

Supported by Family and Friends of Elodie Sandford

*Actual Award balance could be higher depending on donations (e.g., the 2019 Award was £6,800), but only the minimum is guaranteed

Elodie Sandford was a highly regarded Honorary Vice-President of SES, a keen amateur photographer and participant in many of John Blashford-Snell's expeditions.

The Elodie Sandford Explorer Award has been created by family and friends in memory of Elodie. The applicant will be an amateur photographer who partakes in an adventurous and innovative project and can demonstrate how their photography will be of real benefit to the people, environment, fauna or flora targeted by the expedition.

The Elodie Sandford Explorer Award is to support a Pioneer with Purpose who:

- is an amateur photographer
- is taking part in an expedition combining adventure and scientific purpose
- is either the instigator and leader of the expedition, or a team member who is joining the expedition in a supporting role but very much involved in the planning
- can demonstrate how the result of their photography will be of real future benefit to the people, environment, fauna or flora targeted by the expedition and can demonstrate the value of photography as a means of communicating their passion for the purpose of the expedition to a wider audience
- can demonstrate the expedition includes local engagement and collaboration and creates a lasting legacy
- can evidence a clear and strong communication plan (both within scientific and wider audiences) that will include a digital presence on multiple platforms

The sharing of images from the expedition is an important part of the expedition output, and a tangible means by which the Award winner can inspire others interest in the particular issues the expedition seeks to address. It is suggested therefore that the Award recipient be asked to reserve up to £300 to help disseminate photographs through Social Media and other channels to the widest relevant audience possible, and facilitate a photographic display at the 2021 SES Explorer Awards event. Their proposal for how this can best be achieved should be included in their application.
